CLAWING TO SUCCESS A group of first year students cheer for their man as he reaches for the top of the Titan Traverse wall.

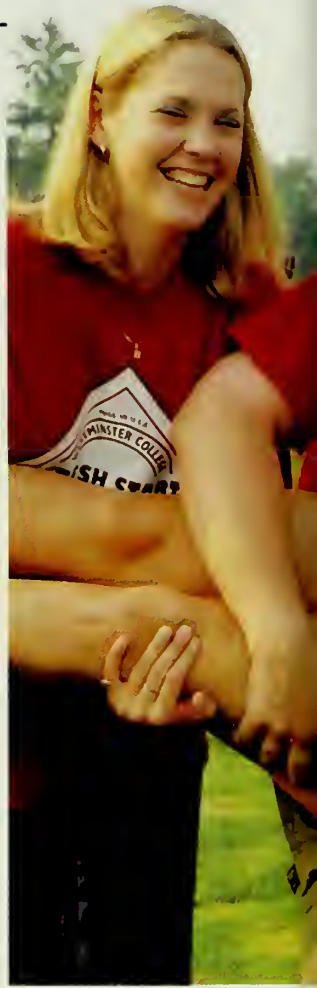

At 8:00 a.m. on Aug. 22, the newest additions to Westminster's family arrived on campus. More than 350 first year students were greeted with friendly smiles by more than 60 upperclassmen in tie-dyed t-shirts volunteering to help ease the burden of carrying college essentials into the residence halls.

The Fresh Start staff was more than just a moving service, however. Senior coordinator Stefanie Maccaglia summed up their objectives: "Each year, the main goal of Fresh Start is to provide new students with a smooth transition into their college experience. We provide support in so many areas, including academic, social, and general well-being."

First year student Laura Kocher praised the social aspect of the program saying, "Fresh Start gave me an opportunity to meet some of my classmates, as well as upperclassmen. It was nice getting used to college life by ourselves a bit before the upperclassmen moved in and classes began."

Where could you go to see Robin Hood, knights, and medieval royalty? It could only happen at the Homecoming celebration! On Oct. 18, lords and ladies from the kingdom of New Wilmington proudly paraded through the streets. Senior Mary Kingston enjoyed the view from horseback: "From the horses to the Greeks to the children picking up candy in the streets, the Homecoming parade was a wonderful way to involve the entire community of Westminster."

The football game kicked off at 1:30 p.m. against the Thiel College Tomcats. At the last minute, Westminster was victorious when Thiel failed to make a forty-three yard field goal. Sophomore Jimmy Connell said, "The large turnout of people at the game showed me how much pride people really do have for Westminster."

King Tom Oyer and Queen Jaime Carter were crowned during the half time festivities.

What's green and purple and gold all over? It's the Witherspoon Room during Mardi Gras, of course! It was a busy year for the festival; many booths representing campus organizations such as SAA's mask-making, Allies' bean bag throw, Alpha Phi

O m e g a ' s "mocktails" and fortune telling and many others filled the room. Sophomore Amber Pollock noted, "The diversity of the booths made the event attractive to lots of members of the community."

Judges reviewed each booth and awarded the prize for "best event" to Tri Beta's "Digging for Worms." This amusing game asked contestants to extract a gummy worm from a plate of whipped topping and crumbled cookies without using their hands. Another sophomore, April Mohn, agreed that this event was one of many that made Mardi Gras an overall success. "It was entertaining for people of all ages. It seemed like everyone enjoyed playing the games."

STATE SALUTE

With a tip of his hat, Michael Allen announces the representatives from West Virginia.

Before this year's Mock Convention, held Feb. 5-6, the College's website promised this event was "gonna be a knockout!"

As the student delegates for each state and territory filed into the Buzz Ridl Gymnasium, they understood the promise. Roll call and the parade of states started the participants laughing. Also on the opening night, keynote speaker Paul Begala of CNN's Crossfire held his audience with a speech about the many facets of the Democratic party.

After debating and voting on each part of the Democratic platform, the campaign manager for each of the five candidates gave their nomination speeches.

"I had a great time at the Convention," said senior Ashleigh Oram. "I learned so much about the nature of campaigning and the value of networking."

General Wesley Clark was nominated for President and U.S. Representative Dennis Kucinich for Vice President.

What took four months to plan and more than 450 people to make a success? It was Westminster College's seventh annual Relay for Life, organized by the brothers of Alpha Sigma Phi. This year's Relay for Life, under the guidance of Event Chairman

Dave DiDesiderio, raised nearly $24,000 for the American Cancer Society. Forty-eight teams of eight to 15 people rallied together for 12 straight hours, during which there was someone from each team constantly walking or running around the track.

One participant, Debra Sanchez, said, "We had a great time while helping a worthy cause. Cancer doesn't care who you are—age, gender, bank account—none of that matters. We are all potential victims and should do whatever we can in the fight against cancer."

DiDesiderio noted, "We have the ultimate goal of eliminating cancer forever." Until then, there is always hope.

Beeghly Theater busily churned out four major productions this season including Laramie Project, Scapin, The Devil's Disciple, and The Baker From Madrigal.

The first show of the season, Laramie Project, made the tragic story of Matthew Shepherd come to life.

Alpha Psi Omega presented Scapin, the second show of the year. According to director Richard Marmura, the show was "full of music, dancing, romance, slap-stick humor and numerous site-gags." Alpha Psi Omega also produced The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged), Jack and the Beanstalk, Cinderella, Little Red and the Hoods and One Acts.

The final production of the year, The Baker From Madrigal, was a landmark because it was the show's worldwide premiere. Dr. Jeff Bersett, professor of Spanish, translator and adaptor of the play explained, "I've been working on this for over a year now and I'm excited to see it on the stage."

Pie eating contests, kickball tournaments and tug-of-war battles signified Westminster's annual Greek Week, an all-sorority and -fraternity event. Activities started Monday and continued through Saturday with Sing and Swing and the culminating awards ceremony. Among other events, the week's highlights included 'Fear Factor,' 'Greek Idol,' 'Belly Flop,' 'Ultimate Frisbee,' 'Volleyball,' 'Anything That

Floats' and 'Bocce.'

Rival groups were careful not to lose sight of the goal of the week—unity among the organizations.

"Greek Week is a time for each sorority or fraternity to spend time with their brothers and sisters as well as get to know people from other organizations," junior Ange Pontorero explained.

While Alpha Gamma Delta emerged victorious among the sororities, Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternities tied by accumulating the highest number of points throughout the week.

The sororities performed to Billy Joel, the Beatles, Paula Abdul, the Jackson 5 and Tina Turner. The fraternities' groups included Outkast, the Rat Pack, Beastie Boys, Usher and Will Smith. Orr Auditorium was filled to capacity as parents, fellow students and friends watched the product of the group's hard work during the late night practices.

"Sing and Swing practices are always a lot of work, but in the end it all comes together as an exciting show," said senior Amber Wertz.

After being eliminated, Russ Good and Andrea Thompson watch the other teams.

Sophomore Tory Duerr said it best when she said, "When you are awakened on a Saturday morning at 9 a.m. by loud music projected across campus, it can only mean one thing: Volley Rock."

Arguably the biggest SGA-sponsored event of the year, Volley Rock is the Saturday in May where everyone on campus has the opportunity to form teams of six or seven and play in a single-elimination volleyball tournament for the grand prize of $500. Play begins at 9:30 a.m. and continues until the winner is declared. Other events included human bowling, jousting, cotton candy, Sno Cones, frisbee, and Phi Mu's Dunk Tank. Junior Laura Kruttschnitt commented, "Volley Rock is always a good time. It's great to see most of the campus hanging out and having fun, plus you gotta love the Quaker Steak w i n g s ."

This year, the Student Government Association carried on their tradition of not only giving students a say in campus activities, but also providing the entire campus community with entertainment. This year, SGA combined classic events like Volley Rock, Fresh Start and the always popular SGA day with new and exciting endeavors such as Fall Fest, Holiday Bash, SGA "Time of the Month" meetings and bathroom newsletters.

"Student Government had a fabulous year!" said SGA 2003-04 President Christy Atkins. "Changes have been made both internally and externally in order to ensure that students were given the best representation and opportunities on campus."

SGA has continued to make many differences in the lives of not only the students at Westminster, but the entire campus community.

"We will miss this year's executives and appreciate their hard work," said 2004-2005 President Jess Rummel.

Lindsey Robertson and her sister show off their craft projects from Lil' Sibs Weekend.

In a busier year than most, the Campus Programming Committee provided both on- and off- campus entertainment. It became independent of the SGA for the first time, which meant a lower budget. Yet, it was still responsible for providing just as much entertainment for Westminster. CPC regularly sponsored Night Owl Bowling, brought in several comedians, held the Gateway Clipper Semi-formal and also organized Lil' Sibs Weekend.

Sophomore Jolene Slattery attended the Gateway Clipper semi-formal and said, "I really like the idea of an all-campus formal where all of your friends can go together, and being on the water is even better."

Abby Seymour, co-chair of Lil' Sibs Weekend, stated, "We had a number of exciting events during this year's sports-themed Lil' Sibs Weekend, and we have already started planning for another great year. We hope to make it even better by offering even more entertainment opportunities."

The noisy bustle of the classroom greets you as you walk nervously into a class for the first time. You are not quite sure what to expect from the others around you, for you are completely new to the environment. How different will this school be to others that you have experienced? What changes will you have to make in order to fit in and find the rhythm of this college?

Contrary to what you might think, this is not a description of a freshman's first day of class. This was the scenario that greeted each of our six new professors this year: Andrew Ade (English), Rita Akin (Economics and Business), Shahroukh Mistry (Biology), Michael Slane (Communication, Theater & Art), Jamie McMinn (Psychology) and Shannon Smithey (Political Science & Sociology). With new faces in such a variety of departments, Westminster's academics thrived with the wealth of fresh influence.

Dr. Ade looked to Westminster as an exciting new challenge for his professional career. He said, "I enjoyed the diversity of classes that I faced. I greeted the freshmen in some of the introductory classes and also got to step into the final leg of the senior English majors' Capstone class. It was exciting to see both the beginning and end products of Westminster's academic programs."

The Argo's 2003-2004 Influential Faculty Award went to Dr. Jennifer DiLalla of the English & Public Relations Department. Dr. DiLalla received her M.A. from the University of Virginia and her Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University. After teaching for 13 years at Johns Hopkins, Virginia Tech, St. Andrews and the University of North Carolina, Dr. DiLalla came to Westminster where she has remained for the past three years. Since arriving here, she has taught Ecological Criticism, Nature Writing, Native American Literature, American Bestsellers (19th c.), American Landscape (19th c.), Detective Fiction and many others. When asked about her teaching philosophy, she responded that she agrees with Emerson: "Books are for nothing but to inspire. Teachers are not about putting information into you or making little 'Us's.' You're supposed to catch the spirit from a teacher and go off on your own. I've learned what I've been trying to teach my students all along: go out and make a difference in the world." Sophomore Jennie Wheeler said, "Dr. DiLalla taught me to think outside of the box, and not to be afraid to take a chance or to broaden my horizons." Junior Tom Oyer added, "Dr. DiLalla is an incredible person in addition to being a wonderful teacher. This shines through in all of her teaching and in how supportive and encouraging she is. I am certainly going to miss her - not only as a teacher, but as a friend."

This year Westminster will sadly bid farewell to three of its influential professors. First, Dr. Carter has held the position of McKee Chair of Economics & Business Administration Department since 1991. In addition to teaching many courses in the business curriculum, he completed extensive research in international business. His studies concentrated on the topic of Canadian-United States management activities.

After 40 years of also teaching in the Economics & Business Administration Department, fellow retiree Mr. Bergey reflected on how much the school has changed since he started teaching at Westminster. He remembers "Saturday morning classes, required daily chapel attendance and rules against women going uptown in shorts." Mr. Bergey offers high praise to the College: "The bottom line is that Westminster College is a fine institution, as are those people associated with it. I was fortunate to be a part of it."

Our final retiree, Dr. Erhardt, was a part of the Modern Languages Department for 36 years because "a small liberal arts college does offer some enticements that large universities cannot." Indeed, Dr. Erhardt became very involved, touching the lives of between 4,000 and 5,000 total students and conducting about a dozen travel seminars per year. Now Dr. Erhardt looks forward to having more time for his hobby: wheel throwing ceramics.

A college as small as Westminster allows indispensable opportunities for students to develop a personal rapport with their professors. It is not uncommon to hear someone on campus chatting about a meeting with a professor. They invite students to their homes for a home-cooked meal, host parties and accompany students on trips out of state and abroad. Their welcoming attitude brings a family feeling to Westminster. As a friend, what advice do they have for their students?

"My advice: Work hard, stay safe and have fun (in that order)!"

Dr. Harrison, Music

"Love, love, love! Read, read, read! (Especially the great classics of Western Civilization including philosophy, history, literature – and then the great classics of other traditions.) Think, think, think! Love, love, love!"

Dr. Na, Religion, History, Philosophy & Classics

"Reach more deeply into the content. Seek to be a scholar, not an academic gamesman. Sustain your academic efforts throughout the term."

Dr. Huey, Education

AVOIDING THE TACKLE

Playing for the second year in the NCAA Division III Presidents' Athletic Conference, Head Coach Jerry Schmitt lead the Titan football team to a winning season with five wins and four losses. With 34 lettermen and 13 starters returning, the team was on the fast track to improving their record of 47 winning seasons.

The Titans hoped to overtake long-time conference standard-bearer Washington & Jefferson, but were unable to accomplish the feat.

The team's conference standing was determined after falling short to Waynesburg in the last game of the season. The Titans posted a winning record of 3-2 in the conference and 5-5 overall, making this their 48th winning season in the past 51 played.

Senior Kevin Huber attributed their success to a strong core. "The team captains' leadership abilities made them great examples both on and off the field."

Working hard throughout the season, the team boasted six first team selections, two second team picks, seven honorable mentions, and one Academic All-District III College Division First Team honor.

THREE CHEERS

FOR THE TEAM

Who can be trusted to be on the sidelines of every men's football and basketball game? The Titan Cheerleaders, of course! They know the importance of keeping up team morale and inspiring not only excellence on the field or on the court, but also bringing out the enthusiasm needed from the fans to keep the positive energy flowing.

The squad puts in two practices a week during the seasons to keep their drills fresh and new. Amanda Hauger, a sophomore quad member, affirmed, "This has been my second year on the cheerleading squad, and we have already become such a strong and close knit group of girls. We always try to come up with new stunts that the crowd will like, and I think our efforts really paid off this year."

The squad, coached by Bess Ondako, has done just that. The men's basketball team were PAC champions this year and went on to compete in the regional tournament. The girls stayed with the team to the end of their season as loyal fans.

A KICKIN' FAMILY

MAKING THE GOAL

Against the odds, the women's soccer team had an incredible season both on and off the field. Illnesses and injuries significantly affected the team's lineup at the beginning of the year.

Yet, under the coaching of Girish Thakar, they managed to end the season with 16 wins and 7 losses.

In the Presidents' Athletic Conference, the lady Titans beat Grove City and earned a bid to the NCAA Division III Women's Soccer Championship Tournament where they lost to Frostburg State University.

The year was not without its interesting moments off the field. As first year Amanda Schenley recalls, "Before one game when we were waiting in the locker room for Coach Girish to come in and give the pep talk, Angie decided to hide in the laundry bin and jump out when he arrived. Much to her surprise, he answered her prank by tipping over the bin with her still in it!"

It is through antics like these and surviving the more difficult times that the girls were able to form a special bond. Sophomore Sarah Bouldin echoes this sentiment. "They are my best friends here at Westminster."

KICKING FOR THE WIN

EYEING THE GOAL

Although this season had its share of wins and losses, the Titan men's soccer team ended the regular season with a record of 9-9-2 after a 1-1 tie with rival, Bethany College. Head coach Girish Thakar commented on the season's record. "We had some inconsistencies on the field, but we had some really good wins as well."

A special victory occurred when the Titans conquered the Washington & Jefferson team twice during the regular season. Another highlight occurred when the team took part in the Presidents' Athletic Conference Men's Soccer Championship Tournament. The Titans were eliminated from the tournament during the semifinals when they suffered a 2-1 overtime loss to Grove City College.

Coach Thakar viewed the season as a learning experience and was very optimistic about future play. "Looking back over the season, the team played very well. They are a young, but very talented team. The experience they got this season will give us something to build on next year."

Going the Distance GOING THE DISTANCE

LEADING THE WAY

"The woods are lovely, dark, and deep, but I have promises to keep, and miles to go before I sleep, and miles to go before I sleep." This Robert Frost quote was put on the back of the women's cross country team's t-shirts this year, and the miles were, indeed, long.

Despite being plagued by many injuries and new challenges, the women's cross country team did well throughout the season under Coach Gary Lilly. New issues facing the racers included a longer course and unusually hot and humid weather. Reaching this new distance gave the ladies a sense of accomplishment. Sophomore Kristin Tarzia stated, "There's a feeling that you get when you're done running that just puts you on top of the world."

Senior Cortney DiVito echoed Tarzia's sentiments as she reflected on her running career at Westminster. "Through my four years of running cross country I've learned priceless lessons regarding teamwork, dedication, and self-motivation that I believe will contribute to my success in the future."

WINNING STRIDES

ADDITIONAL VICTORIES

Running a race, particularly rounding the last corner, gives many runners a strong sense of accomplishment. This is especially true if such a runner enters into a roaring crowd knowing that he is part of a winning team.

This experience was quite real for the men's cross country team this season. They not only captured first place in their home meet, but also placed strongly in every competition.

The highlight of the season occurred when the men placed second in the Presidents' Athletic Conference Championship meet under the coaching of Gary Lilly.

Reflecting on the season, senior Timmy Snyder said, "Everyone on the team always pulled their own weight." He and fellow senior Sean Gallagher had the honor of being named PAC's "Runners of the Week." Westminster spirit pushed the runners to press on despite challenges. Marcus Corvino, a junior, stated earnestly, "Runners put a great deal of pride into every race."

COURTING FOR VICTORY

AIMING TO SCORE

Starting out slowly, it soon became clear that the women's tennis team was making progress from one match to the next. Coach Kipley Haas summed up the season, "It was a good year. We were a young team and had many unknowns going into the season. The ladies worked hard and played their best tennis the final two weeks."

THAT'S WHAT THEY DO Team members circle it up to pray for their best efforts.

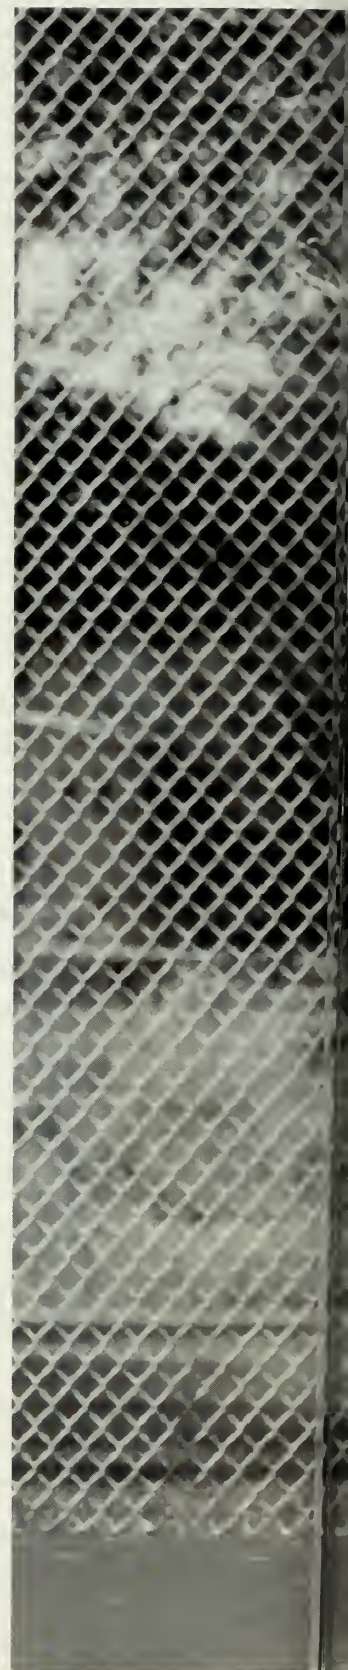

GOOD PREPARATION IS KEY Junior Amy Browell focuses her concentration on a solid toss.

Despite being young, the team finished with a 7-5 record. Traveling to Erie to compete in the Presidents' Athletic Conference tournament, juniors Beth Grubbs and Amy Browell won a second doubles flight championship. At the tournament, the team placed third overall.

As she looked back on the season, Grubbs gave a positive prediction for the team's success next year, "Our team was young this year with three freshman starters. We placed third overall in the conference and even broke Grove City's winning streak at the PAC tournament. It was a good year for building our team. We will be even stronger next year."

CAUSIN' A RACKET

The 2003-2004 season has been a "racket" for this year's Men's Tennis team. The 12-member team was coached by third year Head Coach Scott Renninger. A season highlight was a visit to Erie, PA April 23-24 for the PAC Championships.

Senior John Libert reflected on the Championships. "This being our second year for PAC Championships, we had a much better understanding of the way the tournament was run, which definitely worked to our advantage."

The Titans emerged victorious with a second place finish out of six teams. Despite changing line-ups frequently, the season was successful. The team closed the regular season with a record of 10-9 overall.

Libert recalled the best match of the season at Bethany College: "After doubles finished we had come back to close the score at 3-2. The first player to finish his singles match lost, which put Bethany one match away from victory. Unfortunately for them, our three players won and we emerged victorious."

This level of play was characteristic of the athletes throughout the season and led to their victories.

SPIKING ENERGY

The Lady Titans' Volleyball team certainly went the distance this season. Finishing on a high note, they ended a tough season with a great game against Waynesburg College at the Presidents' Athletic Conference Championship.

According to Head Coach Tammy Swearingen, "The team battled injuries, low numbers and inexperience in key positions throughout the season."

A lot of work was involved in going the distance, but the team worked hard and upset the number two seed, Washington & Jefferson University.

The teamwork of this group was apparent to everyone involved.

"I am very proud of how these athletes continued to work together toward their goal of winning another Conference Championship," said Coach Swearingen.

First year Katie McDermott commented, "This is the most tight-knit team that I have ever been a part."

After a hard season and a hard PAC Championship Tournament, the Lady Titans' 2003 volleyball season was a success despite numbers.

With a record of 6-2 in dual meets, the Westminster Women's Swimming team earned national recognition and a second consecutive PAC championship.

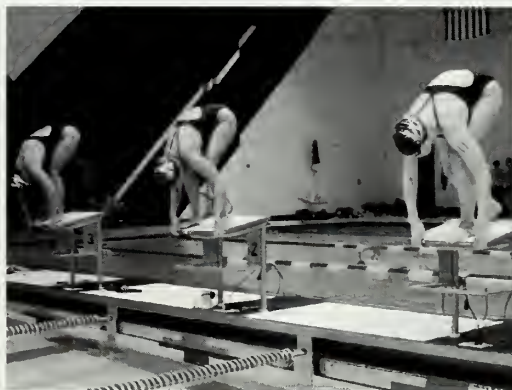

"The season leadership was exceptional and the team formed a great bond which helped contribute to the success," said Head Coach Rob Klamut.

An experienced and talented four-person senior class led the team. These swimmers included Brittany Jardine (two-time All-American), Megan Lytle (PAC 100 free champion), Katie Alukonis (second in 200 free at 2002 PAC) and Tawnya Brown (All-PAC selection in 200 free last year).

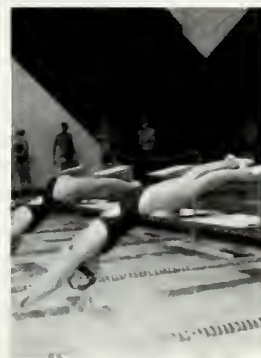

Jardine reflected on the season and said, "Winning the PAC was our goal throughout the season. Our teamwork and unity were displayed at the championships; every person contributed to our victory. I couldn't have picked a better team to end my career. The memories will last forever."

The College Swimming Coaches Association of America also recognized the team for their academic accomplishments. With a combined 3.146 GPA, the team earned their 28th "All-Academic Team" award in their last 31 seasons.

MAKING WAVES

Rising for pre-dawn practices paid off for the Westminster Men's Swimming team. Although they didn't bring home the PAC trophy, they swam to another great season.

"A very young, but very talented team of only 12 members dominated the PAC Championships," said Head Coach Rob Klamut. Of the 12 men on the team, only two were upperclassmen, one swimming for the first time.

"Sweeping all five relay events and winning the majority of the individual races is a testament as to how talented this team was," explained Klamut.

The guys' record illustrates their success. Together, the team won seven meets, losing only one. At their invitationals, they earned one first, one second and two fourth-place finishes.

"PAC trophy or not, to accomplish what the men's team did this year and to pull through the diversity that we did shows what real champions are made of," said Team Captain Andy Hudak. "There are no men with more heart than these 12."

YOUNG & STRONG

For the hoop-swishing ladies, this year was an exciting one. After four years of playing on the team, senior Sarah Scott made the proud claim, "We made the ECAC tournament for the first time in Westminster Women's Basketball history!"

The achievements of this year were slightly unexpected, as junior Erin Morrow stated, "This season was unique because of the youth of the team. It was the first time for us juniors to come out of the shadows of last year's seniors. We understood that would only happen if we all worked together."

Junior Mary Eaton felt satisfied with the team's efforts this year and looks forward to an even stronger effort next season: "I've been on the team now for three years; even though we lost five significant seniors last year, losing such a huge portion of our team didn't stop us from reaching many of our goals for the season. The most exciting moment was when we had made it to the ECAC tournament. The bid to the tournament really proved to us as a team that even though we were young and inexperienced, all of our hard work paid off."

NEW WINNERS

Under the new direction of Coach Ondako, the men's basketball team shot their way to a successful season. Ondako, a former Westminster ball player who earned over 1000 shots for the Titans during his undergraduate career, took over as head coach after five seasons as the top assistant.

Junior Chris Hatch explained this positive change and stated, "This season was unique because we had a lot of new players and a new coach. It was fun to blend everyone's talent together."

Although there were some rough games during the season, junior Pat O'Connor stated, "The ups and downs of the season were fun. The team had no problems and got along very well—hence why we had so much fun." They didn't just have fun, however. They stole the PAC Championship, proving that "different" is many times a good quality for a team. Hatch explained that the win was unforgettable: "The most memorable game was definitely winning the PAC Championship on our home court against Bethany. That was probably the best win I have ever been a part of in my three years

Who says young athletes can't have success? Not the softball team! Composed of mostly underclassmen, they ended with 28 wins and 13 losses. With such success, they were able to compete in the Presidents' Athletic Conference, where they finished third.

Junior Lauren Boris commented, "The root of our success this past season can be attributed to our friendships off the field. This team had a unique bond that we were able to carry into our competitions. We truly loved to be together, and it proved to be an enormous benefit."

Senior Julie Zappa added, "I would have to say that every single person on the softball team had a special role that helped in our wins. They were a great group of girls and I am very honored to be a part of their team...I am going to miss them all."

Coach Reddinger reflected on the season and said, "The team reached its goal as far as the win-loss record...but we fell short in our overall goal, which was to win the PAC. With the attitudes that these seniors hopefully passed along to our younger players, along with the returning talent, I'm looking forward to next year."

HOMERUN COMEBACK

Despite some trouble in the beginning of the season, the Titan Baseball team proved their will to fight. Coach B.G. Davison stated, "With a start like we had, most teams would pack it up and call it a season, but these guys showed that they love the game and played with heart until the last pitch was thrown."

A third-year member of the team, Anthony Griffith, showed pride in his teammate as he described, "The most memorable moment of the year was when Brian Andrews hit a towering homerun against Thiel after the Tomcats put a few runs on the board in the first inning. As Andrews watched the ball leave the park, he tossed the bat as if he were in the major leagues. It really quieted Thiel after that homerun."

Various team members boasted awards throughout the season including Brooks LeViere, making the 2004 American Baseball Coaches Association Division III All-Midwest Baseball teams. Also honored by making the All-Presidents' Athletic Conference Baseball Teams were LeViere, Brian Andrews, Brian Goettler, John Hanlon and Ben Yeckel.

Actually, it's six tournaments the Women's Golf team has competed in – and earned first place finishes four times.

First year golfer Kelly Spisak reflected on the season and said, "As a first year coming into a third year team, I never expected us to be so strong. The key to the game is consistency and we accomplished it together."

Sophomore Alicia Zeis added, "We worked hard all season and we came out on top. Our team was great; playing golf with these girls was so much fun."

The Women's Golf team placed first at the PAC Championship in Wheeling, WV winning by 51 strokes. This was the first Championship win in the history of the team.

Sara Bonchosky placed third at the Championship, Kelly Spisak placed fourth, Kayla Pursifull placed sixth and Rena Paroz placed eighth. Coach Behr was also honored as "Coach of the Year."

Coach Behr explained, "The ladies worked hard, practiced long hours and had great enthusiasm for the sport. It was no wonder they took home the win."

AT THE TOP AGAIN

The eight members of the Men's Golf team combined for a record of 77 wins and 39 losses this season. Together, the team took first place at the Pitt-Greensburg Invitational in September and second at the Malone Invitational.

Sophomore Matt Kurtz reflected on their victories and said, "Although we struggled this season, our team was capable of competing with anyone that we played."

The Presidents' Athletic Conference Championship was held

April 30 at Speindel Golf Course in Wheeling, WV. At the event, the team placed first for the second consecutive year. Scott Voelker earned runner up, Matt Kurtz fifth, John Matune sixth and Robbie Jewell eighth. With a great season, Voelker made All-Conference first team along with Matt Kurtz. John Matune and Robbie Jewell made All-Conference second team.

Coach Nicholson congratulated the team and said, "The 2003-2004 Titan golf team enjoyed a very good year and accomplished a major team goal by winning our second PAC Championship in a row. With a predominately laden squad of underclassmen we look forward to next season."

THEY'RE OFF!

The Women's Track team faced many changes early in the season including welcoming new Coach Don Augustine. With Coach Augustine, practices started earlier than expected and many of the athletes were not ready for the toll the training would have on their bodies.

"We really had a great group of girls this year on the team. Everyone was very supportive and made the season very enjoyable," said junior Katie McKissick. "Although we placed third at the PAC Championships, we were proud of our effort. The other teams simply had bigger teams than us and injuries hampered our team as well."

At the PAC championship, sophomore Sonya Cole placed first in shot put and junior Felicie Reid placed first in the 10,000 meter run.

Asked to sum up the season, Coach Augustine said, "Change and injury. Overall, with the number of girls we have compared to Grove City and Thiel, we did as well as we could have done at the Conference meet. Next season the demands and expectations will continue to increase."

AND RACING FOR THE WIN

A third place finish in the Presidents' Athletic Conference Track and Field Championships was not exactly what this year's Westminster Men's Track and Field team was looking for, but it was a good finish nonetheless. Coach Don Augustine and the team put in hours of hard work to make this season a s u c c e s s .

A big part of this year's team was the throwing group. Adam Hadbavny, Phil Frye, Don Waldron and Alex White were strong, bringing in first, third, fourth and fifth place finishes at the PAC Championships.

"The great thing about that quartet is that they will all be back for next season," said Coach Augustine.

Matt Steve broke two Westminster indoor records in the 300 and 400 Meter Dash. Adam Dabvany also broke an outdoor record in discus.

Throughout the season, senior Sean Gallagher had a philosophy that kept him running. "Strength is the ability to deny p a i n ."

With a significant number of team members returning, next year's season again looks hopeful .

UNTYING THE REINS

Students walking around campus in riding boots and carrying helmets can only suggest one thing: the Equestrian Team.

The team included riders of all skill levels, each wanting to further develop their skills. Averaging 15-20 riders per season, not all team members compete. This year, riders competed against 18 colleges and universities in the Region 3, Zone 3 of the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association.

Junior Jessica Garrison explained her involvement with the team. "Being part of the Equestrian Team allowed me the chance to get to know peers, each sharing a love of horses. The team also provided me with the opportunity to build relationships with horses, always offering unconditional support and friendship. I had a lot of fun with my fellow teammates this year."

ICE SHOT

CLEARING THE ICE

It isn't easy to take nothing and make it something. Over the past four years the Westminster Hockey Club has done just that. What started as a group of players interested in hockey has turned into a club sport and is gaining recognition and players each year.

The guys played each week at Hess' Ice Rink without the comfort of a head coach; instead they used the most experienced players and executive members to teach the plays. Unified, the team enjoyed a more successful season, beating the best competition in the league.

"When we beat the Goldmind 10-9, they were shocked. They had no idea what just happened to them," recalled senior Mike Newland.

This year, Westminster Hockey will lose many of the players who worked hard to start the team, including Newland, Ryan Mensch and Sean Kennedy, but with the players that are returning, the future of Westminster Hockey looks very bright.

JESSICA KANE

To Jessica (our wonderful daughter),
From the moment you were born, we knew you were a very special person. And every day since then has been one grand, beautiful adventure of watching you grow into the kind of daughter parents dream of.

So, start out on your new journey with faith in your heart and climb 'til you reach your dreams.
We are so proud of you, Jess, and your accomplishments.

Congratulations!

We love you,
Mum & Dad

May you always have enough success to make you proud enough trials to keep you strong enough luck to make you smile at life enough work to keep you challenged enough of all life's treasures to keep you truly happy. Congratulations!!!

We love you,
Caitlyn, Patrick & Connor

Dear Jessica,

This day marks a great achievement for you, but it's only the beginning. Just follow your heart and do your best, and all the potential within you is sure to be realized and bring you much happiness.
Congratulations on your graduation!

We love you,
Grandma & Uncle Chas

Congratulations,
Megan!

ANDREW HUSTON

Drew,

You have accomplished more than we have room to mention! You have followed your heart, voted your conscience and spoken your mind. From the boy we sent to WC four years ago, you have grown into a sensitive man who looks beyond the superficial and into the heart. We know God has great plans for you. Be aware of His leading and trust that the right door will open for you at the right time. We are VERY proud of you and we love you VERY much!

Mom, Dad, Zach & Al

Congratulations to the Class of 2004 and their families!

President & Mrs. Williamson

Devi,
From the halls of third floor Jeffers to the RD apartment in Browne, you have changed from an unsure freshman into the lovely, confident, capable young woman who has amazed us with your many campus activities and academic honors. We love you and take great pride in your achievements.

Love, Mom & Dad

Lauren,
Where did the time go? It just seemed like yesterday that you began your journey at Westminster College. You have always made us extremely proud of you. We wish you the best as you pursue the next part of your journey. Your wide-eyed enthusiasm will make you a wonderful elementary education teacher!
Congratulations on a job well done. We Love You!

CHRISTINE ATKINS

Christy's smile is like a ray of sunshine, her smile is a winning grin, plus sparkling charm and a caring heart within. She's even-tempered, mild and sweet; Christy's a gal that can't be beat.

In whatever she chooses, we must confess, our darling Christy, will always be a success. As SGA's president, she led Westminster in more ways than one, to assure success was shared with everyone.

Christy, set your standards high, because you deserve the best. Try for what you want and never settle for less. We believe in you, no matter what you choose. Keep your winning attitude, and you will never lose.

WE LOVE YOU, MOM & DAD

Congratulations on graduating from college, bro. Where has all the time gone? I can't believe in two years I will be following in your footsteps. But they are bright, intelligent, hardworking and spiritual footsteps that I could only hope to fill.
 You're a great role model and a caring, loving brother and I am very proud of you.

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 2004!

In Memory of DR. EUGENE SHARKEY

"After meeting my new advisor (Dr. Sharkey), we chatted about my sister, Julie, as he had had her for several classes, and was clearly impressed with her accomplishments. Somewhere in the conversation, I told him that I realized I had some big shoes to fill. Dr. Sharkey kind of laughed and in his own dry sense of humor way told me to 'go out and buy my own shoes.' And with that comment Dr. Sharkey took away any notion I had of comparing myself to my older sister or trying to live up to her greatness. He made me realize that I had my own greatness to achieve."

Christina Waszczak - Class of 2003

"And, as the student said, 'That man is phenomenal.' He was! In quiet, persistent, focused ways, Eugene Sharkey contributed to the intellectual life of this campus with vocabulary and details that always amazed students and colleagues. He was the first recipient of the Distinguished Faculty Award."

Dr. Barbara Faires - Mathematics

"Walking into class and watching his eyes light up about something that he felt passionate about reaffirmed the notion that there are good people out there that honestly care."

Julie Nutter - Class of 2004

"Gene will be most remembered for his outstanding teaching. He was completely dedicated to the success of his students. He would commit extra advising time to help students complete the requirements for his or her capstone course, or sit for an hour with a first-year student who had little knowledge of history and try to explain historical processes. He never relinquished his belief, as a colleague has said, 'power brings great responsibility' and that American citizens 'should...forge moral lives that try to make the world a just and peaceful place.' We were proud to call Gene a colleague, and we know our skills as teachers were enhanced by our relationship with him."

*Dr. Richard Sprow - English
& Dr. David Twining - History*

"What was so special about these courses, and I suspect Gene's other courses as well, was how they utterly transformed the way that students thought about the world and their place within it. We who believe in the promise of the liberal arts talk a great deal of cultivating virtue in students and about the transformative power of education. Gene did this transformation - every day - in his classes."

Dr. Kristin Park - Sociology

THANKS:

When I interviewed for this position, one very wise soul asked, "Miss Logan, with all your other activities, how will you manage the yearbook too?" To which I simply answered, "I'll hire good people. And they'll do it." And to those good people, I say "thank you" one hundred times over.

I first start with Heather, the best right hand person an editor could ever ask for. Without you, this book would be blank—and you know it. You spent more hours in the Argo office than I did! And, you've also kept me from an Argo break down or two. Ray, I wish you the best next year as you start your own book and your own vision. I know it will be great. Joe, Erin and Laura, thank you for your cooperation and flexibility this year. Your pictures were awesome! Mary and Jaimee, thank you for working together to create interesting captions and well written stories. And Connie, thank you for your constant support and encouragement. Having you in my corner has meant a great deal as a leader, especially in times of hard decisions. To the staffs- Layout, Business, Photography and Copy- thank you. We certainly needed your hard work and dedication to reserve books, write articles and photograph campus life.

To all of you, thank you again for being the 'good people' that made this book happen.

Thank you again
